Las cuatro tendencias
Los perfiles básicos de personalidad que te enseñan a mejorar tu vida (y la de los demás)

A translation of The Four Tendencies: The Indispensable Personality Profiles That Reveal How to Make Your Life Better (and Other People’s Lives Better, Too) (9781524760915)

Gretchen Rubin

“The Four Tendencies will immediately improve every area of your life... understanding your Tendency and how to make it work for you is the game-changer you’ve been looking for.”
—Melissa Hartwig, author and co-creator of The Whole30, on the English-language edition

“The path to happiness starts with your personality. In The Four Tendencies, Gretchen Rubin upends the conventional wisdom of one prescription fitting all people and offers readers a tailored path to better health, relationships and well-being. A remarkable read from one of the most practical storytellers on the planet.”
—Tom Rath, author of Are You Fully Charged? and Strengths-Finder 2.0, on the English-language edition

After years of studying human nature, Gretchen Rubin discovered that we can better understand our personality by analyzing how we respond to ourselves and others. There are four tendencies: the Upholders, the Questioners, the Obligers, and the Rebels. Each of these groups responds in a different way to relationships, to work, and to internal expectations. Rubin presents keys to understanding ourselves so we can reach more productive and happy lives.

Gretchen Rubin is the author of the New York Times bestsellers Better Than Before and The Happiness Project. Her books have sold more than two million copies worldwide, and have been translated into more than 35 languages. She currently writes for her blog gretchenrubin.com and hosts the podcast Happier with Gretchen Rubin. She lives in New York City with her husband and two daughters.

Los Amigos de Fiona
A translation of Fiona’s Friends (9781936669684)
Dr. John Hutton
Photographs by Cincinnati Zoo and Botanical Garden

“Fiona and friends are lovely, it’s true. They’re all very special, just like you!” — Publishers Weekly, on the English-language edition

Fiona the hippo, was born six weeks early. She was too small and weak to stand and nurse from her mother, Bibi, so caregivers stepped in to provide critical care. With help from #TeamFiona, the premature hippo grew into a healthy hippo and an ambassador for her species. There is hope for these animals, but people must care enough to want to save them. Seeing amazing creatures like these at a zoo can inspire that kind of powerful connection and make our planet a better place.

Dr. John Hutton is a pediatrician, early literacy researcher and author from Cincinnati, Ohio. The Cincinnati Zoo & Botanical Garden opened in 1875, making it the second oldest zoo in the United States. It is dedicated to conveying knowledge, conserving nature, and serving the community.

Diane de Anda

Illustrations by Sue Cornelison

When a father is taken away from his family and faces deportation, his family is left to grieve and wonder what comes next. Maricela, Manual, and their mother face the many challenges and changes created by their father’s absence. A new home, missed soccer games and birthday parties, and emptiness are now day-to-day norms. But Maricela learns that her love for her father is sustained even though he is no longer part of her daily life.

Diane de Anda, a third generation Latina, is a retired professor in the Department of Social Welfare at UCLA. Author of several children’s books featuring Latino families, she has five more books due to be published in 2018 and 2019. Sue Cornelison is the author and illustrator of many children’s books. She relishes her time with family, coaching her tumbling and trampoline team, and playing wildlife photographer when she isn’t illustrating.

¡Ahí va!

There You Go! (9788491013372) a translation of the Catalan
Lluís Farré

This book is for those that have recently discovered that stories are made up of words, but are still not capable of decoding what those words mean. These stories have a clear structure and the illustration plays an important role so that readers can sense the narration’s course.

Lluís Farré graduated in Fine Arts with a design specialty from the University of Barcelona. His professional beginnings in illustration started in the scientific field and subsequently dedicated himself to children’s illustration. In 1995 he received the Lazarillo de Ilustración prize for Una casa com un cabás.

Nasario

Ricardo Alcántara

At 14 years old, Nasario believes that his life is unfair and dull. He feels alone and misunderstood, especially in the small town he has lived his entire life. There’s only one way out: leave for far away, to find fortune and return as a success. His initial path will bring him to unique regions and fantastic characters, but the most important lesson is often hidden somewhere along the way.

Ricardo Alcántara is children’s fiction writer. He won the Lazarillo prize in 1987 for his book Un cuento grande comouna casa. Many of his books have appeared on the Honor List of the Child Care Education Institute.

A translation of Quiet Power (9780147509925)

Susan Cain

“Humorous drawings throughout the text add a whimsical and light touch perfect for the intended audience. . . . Many will find value in this title that emphasizes that being an introvert is not a blemish on one's personality but a benefit. An excellent addition.” —School Library Journal, on the English-language edition

Across history, introverts have done many incredible things precisely because of their quiet personalities, not despite them. From artists, actors, actresses, to video gamers, explorers, and athletes, this book focused particularly on children and adolescents, Susan Cain shows us how to use our introvert nature to our benefit so it becomes a precious advantage.

Operation Chrysalis

Jaime Larraín Ayuso

This is a thriller that narrates the transformation of a kidnapped person in 13 days of captivity. Alex is an idealist with his feet in the mud and supports the Theory of the Chrysalis, of the worm that does not know he will become a butterfly. Alex must only create the conditions for the caterpillar to achieve consciousness for his experiment. It is thirteen days of suspense and surprises that, interrupted by a reflexive conspiracy, explain the bold decision of the protagonist. It is a story where hackers, magnates, ex-revolutionaries, CIA agents and journalists mix to unleash unpredictable events.

Jaime Larraín Ayuso is a writer and scholar. He has written essays such as a theory of everything, an argument about evolution theory and the human species, and an essay about education. With this novel, he begins a trilogy of idealist thrillers about money, religion, and power.

La buscadora de niños

A translation of The Child Finder (9780062659057)

Rene Denfeld

“It’s Deliverance encased in ice... Denfeld’s novel is indeed loaded with suspense, its resonance comes from its surprising tilt towards storytelling restraint, a rarity in this typical crackling genre. Elegiac, informative and disquieting... The novel gallops to a suitably heart-racing finish.” —New York Times Book Review

Naomi Cottle finds missing children. When the police have abandoned the search, families call her. Madison Culver disappeared 3 years ago during a family trip to Oregon, where they had gone to cut down a Christmas tree. Everyone believes she died after her disappearance, but Naomi knows she’s alive. As she pursues the truth behind Madison’s disappearance, a dark dream pierces her defenses that reminds her of a terrible loss she cannot remember. If she finds Madison, will she unlock the secrets of her life?

Rene Denfeld is the author of the acclaimed novels The Child Finder and The Enchanted. Her fiction has won numerous awards including the prestigious French Prix and an ALA Medal for Excellence. She was also the chief Investigator of a public defender office, for which she worked on hundreds of cases. She is the mother of three children.

Catalina Aguilar Mastretta

After 10 years together, María and Emiliano are separating. What was it that drove them apart? A lack of desire? The mundane day-to-day? María, a bundle of nerves after the rupture, speaks of her pain, the changes, and what she cannot divorce from her one love. In an intimate and frank manner, the novel addresses the pain that lingers after a romantic break-up and the issue of reconstructing yourself.

Jessica Shattuck

“If you love historical fiction, this is your must-read book: It’s captivating, fascinating, and incredibly faithful to the events as they happened, and Jessica Shattuck reveals an entirely new side of what it’s like to be a woman in wartime.” —Newsweek, on the English-language edition

When World War II ends, among the ashes of the Nazi’s defeat, Marianne von Lingenfels vows to fulfill the promise she gave her husband who was killed for opposing Hitler: to reunite and protect the women and children of those valiant men who collaborated in the resistance. She is only able to rescue two women, but together they hole up in a Bavarian castle of her husband’s ancestors. The three women must learn to live with the choices that determined their lives and destroyed their country.

Jessica Shattuck has published stories in the New Yorker, Glamour, Open City and the Tampa Review. She has also published articles in the New York Times, Wired, and the Boston Globe. Her previous novel, The Hazards of Good Breeding, was chosen as the best book of the year by the Boston Globe. She lives in Massachusetts with her family.

Rumbo al mar blanco
A translation of In Ballast to the White Sea (9780776622088)

Malcolm Lowry

In June 1944, Malcolm Lowry saved from the flames the work that would be his celebrated novel, Bajo el volcán. He believed that Rumbo al mar blanco, the manuscript he had worked on relentlessly, had been lost in the same fire. But now, more than 50 years later, it is found. Rumbo al mar blanco is an imposing novel and a fight between the demons and ideological doubts of the author. It is introspective and epic, and it offers us insight into the politics of the interwar years as it describes a young writer who believes that both his book and life have already been written by a Norwegian novelist.

Malcolm Lowry is a poet and novelist. He has a degree from the University of Cambridge. During much of his life, he wrote screenplays in Hollywood. His novel Bajo el volcán is widely considered one of the greatest novels of the 20th century.

Las aventuras de Sherlock Holmes

A translation of The Adventure of Sherlock Holmes (9780486474915)

Arthur Conan Doyle

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is the creator of the most celebrated detective in literature, Sherlock Holmes. The 12 stories gathered in this volume were published between 1891 and 1892 in Strand Magazine. Conan Doyle himself catalogs these stories as his favorites and the most central of the Holmesian style.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is a doctor, novelist, and creator of the master detective Sherlock Holmes. Initially a physician, his clinic did not often receive patients, and so in his free time he began to write stories. After much success, he gave up medical practice to dedicate himself full time to writing.

Madame Bovary

Madame Bovary (9788415618843) a translation of the French
Gustave Flaubert

A subject of scandal during its publication, the novel had to overcome the censorship by Napoleon III before it became the pioneer of literary realism. Emma Bovary represents the rebellion against the corset-like, bourgeoise society of nineteenth-century France and the profound dissatisfaction with life. Emma runs from her unhappy marriage, but as well from a world that isn’t made how she prefers, and from a period that is not hers.

Gustave Flaubert is considered one of the greatest writers of the 19th century. At 13 he founded the literary journal Art of Progress. Flaubert lived during a period of profound social changes, and he reflects that in his most celebrated works and writing.

Cinco semanas en globo
A translation of Five Weeks in a Balloon (9781976047695)
Julio Verne

Considered Vernes’s first success, this book is known for its scientific authenticity and fanciful adventure. The story begins with a scholar and explorer, Dr. Samuel Ferguson, accompanied by his employee and a hunter, who take a hot air balloon voyage across the African continent. There, they engage in many conflicts and adventures with natives and the environment.

Jules Verne is an author, often regarded as a giant in the adventure genre and the “father of science fiction.” He is best known for his novels, Veinte mil leguas de viaje submarino, De la tierra a la luna, and Viaje al centro de la tierra.

Drácula
A translation of Dracula (9780486454016)
* Bram Stoker *

Drácula is the essential vampire novel in which Stoker sparks the core themes of the subgenre: the fight between good and evil and the sensuality of the vampire. It tells the story of Jonathan Harker, an estate agent who the enigmatic Count Dracula summons to his castle in Transylvania to help find a home in London—so Dracula may find new victims and spread his curse.

Bram Stoker is a writer best known for his gothic novel Drácula, which established many conventions of the vampire horror genre. He studied mathematics at Trinity College, where he first became interested in theatre. During his lifetime, he was the business manager at the Lyceum Theatre in London.

En las montañas de la locura y otros relatos
A translation of At the Mountains of Madness (9781974259267)
Howard Phillips Lovecraft

En las montañas de la locura is a classic story of an expedition of the Antarctic and the discovering of a cave that harbors secrets and horrors unknown to humanity.

Howard Phillips Lovecraft known professionally as H.P. Lovecraft is an author of horror stories. He is remembered for creating the cosmic horror genre, also known as Lovecraftian horror. The genre combines elements of terror with science fiction. His works have been the inspiration for various authors and films.

(9781853260018)
Emily Brontë

“It is as if Emily Brontë could tear up all that we know human beings by, and fill these unrecognizable transparencies with such a gust of life that they transcend reality.” —Virginia Woolf, on the English-language edition

Cumbres Borrascosas is the essential English romantic novel of the nineteenth century. It describes the passionate and intense love between Catherine Earnshaw and Heathcliff, an orphan adopted by Catherine’s father. Bullied by Catherine’s brother and believing his love unrequited, Heathcliff leaves and returns years later a wealthy man. He then exacts different forms of revenge in a chaotic, violent, and jealous manner.

Emily Brontë is a writer. Like her two sisters, Charlotte and Anne Brontë, she is considered one of the best of her generation. Using the pseudonym Ellis Bell, she wrote only one novel. Though criticized initially, Cumbres Borrascosas is now widely regarded as a classic.

Lunario del paraíso

Moon of Paradise (9788416291618) a translation of the Italian

Gianni Celati

“One of the great Italian novels of the second half of the 20th century. A contemporary story that drinks from classic sources such as Chaucer, Fielding or Pirandello.” — La Repubblica, on the Italian-language edition

In 1978, Gianni Celati published this legendary and hilarious novel. On an Italian beach, Giovanni falls in love with a young German girl, and he follows her to the Hamburg of the Beatles during the 60s. Here is a wandering philosopher, a gentlemanly lover but with a hole in his shoe, a poor man who philosophizes with depth through simple words. This bombastic and charming novel offers torrential humor and picaresque adventures of love at first sight.

Gianni Celati is a writer. He received a Ph.D. in English literature for his thesis about James Joyce, and he has translated authors such as Jonathan Swift, Mark Twain, and Herman Melville to Italian. His books include Comiche and Parlamenti buffi. He won the Viareggio prize in 2006.

Rita Indiana

“The unusual strength of this provocative writer will leave you quietly restless: reading Indiana is the closest thing to that Goya engraving entitled The Sleep of Reason Produces Monster.”

— Ricardo Baixeras, El Periódico de Cataluña

Argenis Luna, the protagonist, is as much a mythological character as a social outcast. After ten pages of living with him, we understand and love him. His contradictions are ours. Here is the story of the sons of many revolutions. Here is a life in two islands: Cuba to the Dominican Republic. Full of passion, contradictions, and the demolition of the old ideas of justice and equality in the pursuit of capital. This book is so full of universal ideas that we may sometimes think we are reading of our own day to day.

Rita Indiana is a writer and singer-songwriter. A key figure of Caribbean literature, her second novel Papi, is considered a modern classic for its use of slang and colloquialisms. Her most recent novel, La mucama de Omicunlé won the Asociación de Escritores del Caribe Prize in 2017.

Magda Hollander-Lafon

“A luminous book full of life and hope” —Éllyette Abécassis, Le Monde

Magda Hollander-Lafon lived through the harshest darkness: as a Hungarian Jewish teenager, she was deported in 1944 to Auschwitz with the rest of her family, who all died. These pages, pulled from her experience close to death, focuses on quiet, emotional moments: breadcrumbs a dying woman gives her, the water they offer when a body is near its end, and the smiling woman who picked her up from the liberated camp. History is full of terrible deeds, but Hollander-Lafon communicates a happiness robbed from the hell that almost devoured her and nourished by a life of spiritual encounters.

Magda Hollander-Lafon is a writer and Holocaust survivor, the only one from her family. After WWII, she studied children’s psychology and French.

La vida en tiempo de paz

Life in a Time of Peace

Francesco Pecoraro

In only a day, the engineer Ivo Brandini (while he waits for a plane) tells us his entire life, recognizing a nearing end. In a backward narrative, Brandini reviews his life with the melancholic lucidity of his weaknesses and dreams. He also writes of a country submerged in abuse, hypocrisy, bureaucracy, and submission. He remembers the economic excess at the beginning of the century, the student protests of the 60s; from youthful days at the beach discovering love and sex, the barbaric postwar world, to his first steps of his childhood.

Francesco Pecoraro is an architect, urban planner, author of poems and articles, and wrote a book of stories Dove credi di andare. This is his only novel.

Angelika Schrobsdorff

“Angelika Schrobsdorff is, without a doubt, an exceptional writer” — Pablo Matínez Zarracina, El Correo

Eveline Clausen, the troubled protagonist, is the daughter of a German father and Jewish mother, who grows up during the ascension of Nazism. An autobiographical character that loses her naivety, innocence, begins to live avidly and intensely to dispel all the fears she’s had since childhood. The men that pass through her life are similar means to avoid the hard reality of persecution and hunger, though they are also deceived by this young woman.

Angelika Schrobsdorff is the author of ten novels and two short story books. Those include Hombres, Die Reise nach Sofia, and Tú no eres comomotrasmadres.

El regreso de Johnny Pickup

The Return of Johnny Pickup

Jordi Sierra i Fabra

Johnny is rocker among the greats who decided to retire to a deserted Polynesian island when the Beatles released Sgt. Pepper’s, convinced that he could never top that. However, a music critic named George Saw has decided to go find him and convince him to return to civilization so fans can hear him once again. He even has the idea to get a tribute album together with Springsteen, McCartney, Sting, Dylan, and all the other greats. But Johnny has been retired for so many years and New York is not the same city he knew. How can a dinosaur like him survive?

Jordi Sierra i Fabra is a writer and music critic. He first began writing articles for La Prensa de Barcelona in 1968. After quitting school, he wrote about and followed bands around the world. It led to his first book, 1962-1970 Historia de la Música Pop which became a commercial success. Since then, he has won many prizes including the Ateneo de Sevilla Prize.

John Fowles
“This collection of five novels confirms that, in terms of technical ingenuity and narrative ability, Fowles has few equals among living novelists.” —The Observer, on the English-language edition
A young art critic reconsiders his conventional life after visiting an English painter retired to the French countryside in the company of mysterious women. A philosophical thief awakens a writer to torture him. The disappearance of a successful member of Parliament puts the London police in check. A group of friends, each with their miseries, spend some bittersweet days in an idyllic country setting. These four stories capture the exciting themes that Fowles has considered during his entire career.
John Fowles is a fiction author. He studied French and German at the University of Edinburgh and at the New College in Oxford before teaching in France, Greece, and England. After the success of his first novel, El coleccionista, he devoted himself entirely to writing.

Las últimas noches de París
The Last Nights of Paris, a translation of the French (9782070751631)

Philippe Soupault

One of the most beautiful and enigmatic novels by Soupault, it is one of the first novels in which the urban landscape acts as a character. In every moment, Paris reveals itself through outcroppings of characters, stylized version of beggars and intellectuals as a city threatened by an incessant, dreary downpour and by the fire of a new Nero who dreams of replicating Rome. Intrigue dissolves into undecipherable signs as characters stumble along and the anonymous narrator waits for a catastrophic indecision that will permit his freedom from a terrible agreement.

Philippe Soupault is one of the original pioneers of Dadaism in France along with André Breton and Louis Aragon, with whom he later founded Surrealism. After being imprisoned by Nazis during WWII, he traveled to the United States where we taught at Swarthmore College.

Los mejores relatos de humor de S. J. Perelman

A translation of The Most of S. J. Perelman (9780413777232)

S. J. Perelman

Foreword by Woody Allen

“S. J. Perelman is the funniest person in the world, in any medium. There is not a single current writer equal to Perelman in comedic talent, delirious inventiveness, erudite narrative skill and dazzling and original dialogue.” —Woody Allen

S. J. Perelman is one of the most original voices of North American humor writing. For more than 40 years, Perelman published the bulk of his hilarious stories in the New Yorker. For the first time in Spanish, this book is an extensive collection of his work where one can appreciate the evolution of his style and the progressive sophistication of his humor. It includes an exquisite semantic palette full of word games, double entendres, neologisms, free association, brilliant metaphors, and a style that has influenced some of the most important comics—such as Steve Martin, Woody Allen, and the Marx Brothers.

S. J. Perelman is a screenwriter and humorist. During his career, he wrote many short stories and essays for the New Yorker and wrote the scripts for Around the World in 80 Days and Monkey Business. Woody Allen is a director, screenwriter, actor, musician, humorist, and writer. He has won four Academy Awards. Since 1969, he has directed over 45 films.

Stanley Elkin

“Stanley Elkin’s imagination should be declared a national monument. When the time comes to write the history of American English at the end of the 20th century, his work will be an essential source” —Paul Auster, on the English-language edition

The nine stories that make up this collection, published originally in 1965, give readers the chance to get to know one of the most exuberant and radical North American prose writers of the second half of the twentieth century, who has been rarely translated into this language. These realistic stories, through Elkin’s boundless imagination, his lavish phrases that unfold like packed branches of fantastic fruits, and his characters, driven by missions bordering on madness.

Stanley Elkin is a writer. He studied English literature at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, where he received a master’s and doctorate. Beginning in 1960, he taught creative writing at the University of Washington-St. Louis. He won the National Book Critics Circle Award for his novels George Mills and Mrs. Ted Bliss.

Passing Time (9783458173748) a translation of the German
Andrea Köhler

Life is weaved with a continuous thread of waiting and events. “Waiting is a hassle” begins the book, but it is also inevitable—it’s something that we do constantly, whether waiting in line at the supermarket or for someone to respond to our texts. Waiting permits us to assess our past but also shape the future. There is no growth nor authentic development without waiting. In this essay, Andrea Köhler considers literary passages to show us how waiting is an essential part of human experience.

Andrea Köhler is a cultural correspondent for the Swiss daily newspaper Neue Zürcher Zeitung and the recipient of the 2003 Berlin Book Critics Prize. She currently lives in New York City.

Mindfulness para aliviar el dolor

A translation of Mindfulness Meditation for Pain Relief (9781591797401)

Jon Kabat-Zinn

When physical pain or emotional suffering appears in our lives, rarely do we dedicate the attention and care it deserves, and often treat it like something to be ignored. On occasion, we resort to medicine or reward ourselves with leisure or buying things with the false hope of alleviating it. Jon Kabat-Zinn, pioneer of Mindfulness across the world, outlines a series of guided meditations for another way to treat pain through self-knowledge of the body and the mind even among a culture that pushes us in the opposite direction.

Jon Kabat-Zinn is the founder and director of the Center for Mindfulness in Medicine, Health Care, and Society at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, as well as the founder of the Stress Reduction Clinic. Amor verdadero
El arte de la atención y la compasión
A translation of Real Love: The Art of Mindful Connection (9781250076502)
Sharon Salzberg
“Writing with compassion and keen insight Real Love opens the heart, helping everyone understand love as revolutionary spiritual practice.”—bell hooks, on the English-language edition
Since childhood, we have heard thousands of love stories, but they are often unattainable ideals that produce dissatisfaction because we believe we do not receive what we were promised. Sharon Salzberg presents a series of meditative techniques to eliminate habits and to help us create more profound, loving relationships with ourselves and others.
Sharon Salzberg is a central figure in the meditation field, a world-renowned teacher, and the author of La felicidad auténtica, a New York Times bestseller. She is a regular contributor to the Huffington Post and has published Amor incondicional and El poder de la meditación, among other titles.

El hombre más inteligente de la historia
The Most Intelligent Man in History (9786075274881) a translation of the Portuguese

Augusto Cury

After suffering a personal loss, the doctor Marco Polo goes to Jerusalem to confront a surprising question: did Jesus know how handle his own mind? Moving past a mythical persona, he analyzes a man who could handle losses and frustrations with resilience and a talent to form brilliant goals. Millions on the internet follow the debates about his research, but no one is prepared to see Jesus under such a revolutionary microscope.

Augusto Cury is a psychiatrist, investigator, and writer. He developed the Theory of Multifocal Intelligence that studies the process of constructing memories and the self as a mental administrator. Currently, he directs the Academy of Intelligence of São Paulo. He has sold more than 28 million books and been published in over 70 countries.

Alma sin edad
La búsqueda interminable del sentido de la vida y la alegría
A translation of Ageless Soul: The Lifelong Journey Toward Meaning and Joy (9781250135810)

Thomas Moore

“Beautifully and eloquently written...Thomas Moore convinces us that we age best when we embrace our age, live agelessly, and remember every day to find the endless joy nestled inside our soul.” —Dr. Rudolph E. Tanzi, New York Times bestselling author of Super Brain and Super Genes, on the English-language edition

In Alma sin edad, Thomas Moore proposes a distinct vision of the final stage of life: our body can age, but our soul is eternal. Using Greek myths, psychology, and historical studies, the author presents a guide to live old age as a transformative experience: a surprising combination that embodies energy, strength, creativity, maturity, and wisdom.

Thomas Moore has been a musician, university professor, and a psychotherapist. Currently, he teaches classes about holistic medicine, spirituality, psychotherapy, and ecology. He has a Ph.D. in religion from the University of Syracuse and an honorary doctorate from the University of Lesley.

¿Y si cinco minutos pudieran cambiar su día?

If 5 Minutes Could Change Your Day?

Various

The alarm sounds. Snooze. Check your phone. Shower. No breakfast and out the door running. What if five minutes could change your day? If you paused to think how you feel for those minutes? It has been demonstrated that journaling briefly helps us achieve our dreams and objectives. It helps us concentrate on what is important, to prioritize what to do during the day and note progress. This book offers a beautiful space and creative exercises that encourage reflection and create morning intentions. You only need five minutes.

Reiki Techniques
Elizabeth Sinclair

Reiki is a method of natural healing created by the Japanese master Mikao Usui in 1922 and is based in meditation, breathing, moderate exercise, and healthy life habits. Through the position of hands, one can channel the energy from the self to others and, in this manner, cure physical pains and heal emotions. There is no need for a special “gift,” only the desire to learn the technique and apply it.

Elizabeth Sinclair is a teacher of Reiki. She has dedicated her life to therapy to combat many different sicknesses. She has a private practice in Montreal.

A translation of Shinrin-Yoku: The Art of Japanese Forest Bathing for Health and Relaxation (9781912023516)
Yoshifumi Miyazaki

Shinrin-Yoku is the practice of walking slowly through a forest, without urgency, during the morning, afternoon, or all day. The phrase initially grew as a promotional campaign so that people visited Japan’s beautiful forests. However, soon various scientists began to study the physiological and psychological benefits of nature and forests. The greater understanding that we feel better when we surround ourselves with nature has inspired this book.

Yoshifumi Miyazaki is a university professor, researcher, and the sub-director of the Center of Environmental Sciences at the University of Chiba. He has published various books about the effects and benefits of forest therapy.

El vino
Un viaje irreverente por la subcultura de sommeliers, enólogos y bebedores
A translation of Cork Dork (9780698195905)
Bianca Bosker

“Reads like a wine lover’s equivalent of Dante’s ‘The Divine Comedy’: There is paradise, but only after glimpses of purgatory and hell…A funny, thought-provoking and at times frightening look at the sublime tastes, enormous egos and curious rules of a profession that is both insanely rigorous and occasionally ridiculous.” —Associated Press, on the English-language edition

Bianca Bosker didn’t know much about wine… until she stumbled upon the alternative universe where taste is the supreme sense. Fascinated by the almost superhuman sensory powers of sommeliers, Bosker launched herself into their world to see if she could become one of them. With humor and skepticism, Bosker takes us to exclusive restaurants, massive wine regions, and through a neurological study to answer a compelling question: Why do we care so much about wine?

Bianca Bosker is an award-winning journalist that has written about food, wine, architecture, and technology for various publications such as the New Yorker, the Atlantic, The New York Times Style Magazine, the Wall Street Journal, The Guardian, and the New Republic.

La carta de vinos, por favor
Atlas de las regiones vinícolas del mundo
The Wine List, Please (9782501122887) a translation of the French
Jules Gaubert-Turpin and Adrien Grant Smith Bianchi

From the banks of the Black Sea to the Andes mountain range, wine barrels have rolled together through history. How did the Pyrenean grape end up in Uruguay? How did wine get to Japan? This book is an atlas of vine-growing that looks back on the conquest of the grape. With stops in each wine country, from the oldest to most recent, this book discusses yesterday, today, and what happens in the future. In addition to including maps, this book contains fascinating data and stories about each major wine territory.

Jules Gaubert-Turpin and Adrien Grant Smith Bianchi are the co-creators of a collection of guides and posters about wine regions around the world. When they became interested in wine study, they found a lack of modern and aesthetic support, so they set about creating a new method to approach wine and its regions with this book.
El ABC del vino
The ABC of Wine
Jesús Diez

Revolutionary Approach to Success
(9780670026555)
Adam Grant
For generations, we have focused on the individual drivers of success: passion, hard work, talent, and luck. But today, success is increasingly dependent on how we interact with others. It turns out that at work, most people operate as takers, matchers, or givers. Using his own pioneering research,
Adam Grant shows that these styles have a surprising impact on success.
Adam Grant received his B.A. from Harvard and his Ph.D. in organizational psychology from the University of Michigan. He has been recognized as one of the world’s 25 most influential management thinkers and the world’s top 40 business

El sacrificio prohibido
Freud y la Biblia
Prohibited Sacrifice: Freud and the Bible
Marie Balmary
Translated by Mayka Lahoz

Psychoanalysis and the Bible are both founded in stories of unconscious experience and of the divine. However, they are often pushed against each other. Marie Balmary, through her difficult yet thrilling psychoanalytical lens, denounces “excessive respect” in the reading of the Bible which restrains us from a living, complex reading.

Marie Balmary is a psychoanalyst. She has focused her studies on the foundational texts of civilization, specifically the Bible. Mayka Lahoz has a Ph.D. in philosophy and letters from the Autonomous University of Barcelona, where she was an associate professor for 11 years. She specializes in the study of philosophical, political, and ethical thought.

La religión del futuro
Una visión integradora de las grandes tradiciones espirituales
A translation of The Religion of Tomorrow (9781611803006)
Ken Wilber

In this book, Ken Wilber outlines and imagines a future religion that, without abandoning a faithful vision, recognizes human evolution in each era. He argues that if religions want to be attractive to modern men and women, they must incorporate scientific truths discovered in recent decades about the mind, emotions, and consciousness that ancient creators of religion did not understand. This book is an intelligent call for unity of the religions of tomorrow.

Ken Wilber is the founder of the Integral Institute and confounder of Integral Life. His thoughts and writing have been recognized internationally regarding spirituality and human development. He is the author of more than 20 books.

Las malas lenguas
Barbarismos, desbarres, palabras, redundancias, sinsentidos y demás barrabasadas
The Bad Tongues: Barbarisms, Nonsense, Bad Words, Redundancies and Others
Juan Domingo Argüelles

In this work, Juan Domingo Argüelles reviews the redundancies, poor pronunciation, and other linguistic gaffes that both the educated and uneducated commit. In addition, he offers a critical view of the linguistics institutions for being antiquated and omitting necessary dictionary entries. Through reading this, hopefully, a reader will learn to avoid the atrocities we say and write in Spanish.

Juan Domingo Argüelles is an essayist, literary critic, and editor. He finished his Bachelor of Letters at the National Autonomous University of Mexico. Currently, he directs IBERO, a journal of the Ibero-American University and a columnist in multiple publications. He has written books such as Ustedes queleen and La letramuerta.

Crear iconos
A translation of Thinking in Icons (9781631593147)
Emily Potts and Felix Sockwell
Foreword by Steven Heller

From the most sophisticated, corporate visual systems to the omnipresent emoticons, icons have become an international language, entertaining images, and affirmations of a unique brand identity, as much personal as they are commercial. With a preface by Steven Heller and commentary by experts such as Bill Gardner, John Korpiics, and Brian Rea, this book will educate, inspire, and entertain designers, illustrators and any fans.

Emily Potts is a writer and has been an editor in the design industry for 20 years. She lives in Peoria, Illinois. Felix Sockwell is an artist, graphic designer, and art director specializing in logos, murals, and GUI who has worked with various brands and companies. He lives in Maplewood, New Jersey. Steven Heller was the art director for the New York Times for 35 years. He currently writes the blog The Daily Heller and lives in New York City.

Francisco Hernández

There exists an innate soul in all human beings, and our tendency to express ourselves shows this as manifestations of our creativity. Consider writing, which is simply drawing symbols on a piece of paper. Any person that writes legibly is drawing and has the potential to improve their ability to draw, which connects us directly with profound feelings. Look at a small child enthusiastically drawing. This is the fuel of our creativity: enthusiasm and play. And through drawing, one can foster both.

Francisco J. Hernández is a Spanish painter, illustrator, and biologist. He is a former board member of the Asociación Española de Artistas de la Naturaleza and has led courses and workshops on scientific and nature illustration, as well as on drawing and painting.

This book presents a brief history of photography and its most significant styles. It also reviews the technological advances from the primitive camera to its transformation into a digital device. It highlights 50 key works, that span from pictorialism and photojournalism to abstraction and portraiture, that have left an indelible mark on the art form. It may not be an exhaustive history, but it helps the reader enjoy and understand photography from its birth.

Ian Haydn Smith is an editor of the magazines Curzon and BFI Filmmakers. He has written multiple books and created television programs about film and photography.

Los secretos de las calles de Barcelona
Secrets of Barcelona Streets
José Luís Caballero and David Escamilla

Barcelona is a city that has reinvented itself throughout history. So many times, in fact, that Barcelona is known as the city with a thousand faces. There is the industrial Barcelona, the Olympic village, and the city of festivals and expos. There is also the Barcelona of design, the stately and distinguished City of Counts, and the ancient Barcino. In this book, two writers divulge all the Barcelona's and their histories for our astonished eyes, corner to corner, plaza to plaza, street to street.

José Luís Caballero is a writer and journalist, with a degree in information science from the Autonomous University of Barcelona. He has practiced journalism in various mediums and has published numerous novels and short stories. David Escamilla is a journalist and writer. He received a bachelor's degree in political science and sociology from the Autonomous University of Barcelona. He has published twenty books.

Adam Hochschild

At the end of the 19th century, when the European powers divided Africa for themselves, King Leopold of Belgium carried out a brutal sacking of the territory surrounding the Congo river that provoked the death of over 10 million Africans. A rich and perturbing story, it describes a megalomaniac of monstrous proportions. It is also the moving portrait of African rebels who did not kneel and a handful of valiant missionaries and explorers who traveled to Africa in search of adventure and instead became witnesses to a genocide.

Adam Hochschild is a writer, journalist, historian, and professor. He received a BA in history and literature from Harvard University and has contributed essays to The New Yorker, Harper’s Magazine, The New York Review of Books, and the Nation.

Beneath the mestizo myth maintained by the State and accepted by society, there hides a racial hierarchy and structure in which different social groups have been historically marginalized and removed from their lands. In Mexico, racist ideas have received little attention in cultural studies but are often present in public. In this book, Lund analyzes this issue through the works of four Mexican writers: Luis Alva, Ignacio Manuel Altamirano, Rosario Castellanos, and Elena Garro.

Violación en Nueva York
A translation of Rape in New York (9781558616813)
Jana Leo

Jana Leo remembers each part of the moment when a man entered her apartment in Harlem and raped her. After calling the police, who showed little interest in the incident, the artist realized that the violence did not end with the rape. Preoccupied with the possibility her aggressor would return, she contacted her landlord, who refused to increase security measures. Here, Leo sharply analyzes the vulnerability of the working class and the perverse penal justice system. In addition, she analyzes rape within the circle close to the victim, as her rapist was also her neighbor.

Jana Leo is a multidisciplinary artist. She has a doctorate in philosophy from the Autonomous University of Madrid and a master’s in architecture from the University of Princeton, and for more than fifteen years she has worked in a combination of artistic disciplines. Her art has appeared in Spain and the United States. She lives in New York.

Deep Purple
Historia de la saga
José Luis Martín

Legends with a turbulent past, Deep Purple is considered one of the most fundamental bands of Hard Rock. They have sold more than 100 million albums all over the world, but the ambition of some members—who went off on their own or formed new groups—has caused Deep Purple to go through numerous changes. Despite this, the purple machine has yet to stop, and this book chronicles their career from the original formation to the numerous acts created by old members.

José Luis Martín has been a music critic for more than 30 years. He has directed and presented various music radio programs such as “El tiempo está de nuestra parte” on Ona Popular de Sants and “Bad Music” on Radio L’Hospitalet, ComRadio, and ScannerFM, which was also a TV program for over 10 years. Stop-time

A translation of Stop-Time (9780140044461)

Frank Conroy

“The best literary memoir of the twentieth century and one of the books that first made poor old yours truly want to try to be a writer.” — David Foster Wallace

First published in 1967, Stop-Time was immediately recognized as a masterpiece of modern American autobiography, a brilliant portrayal of one boy’s passage from childhood to adolescence and beyond. Here is Frank Conroy’s wry, sad, and beautiful tale of life on the road; of odd jobs and lost friendships, brutal schools and first loves; of a father’s early death and a son’s exhilarating escape into manhood.

Frank Conroy graduated from Haverford College in 1958. He was director of the prestigious Writers’ Workshop. Conroy is the author of his autobiography Stop-Time and story collection, Midair. His work has appeared in the New Yorker, Esquire, GQ, Harper’s Magazine, and Partisan Review.

This is a true story, told in the first person, of a woman that was submitted to sexual and physical abuse by her father when she was a young girl. It is the anatomy of a broken mind, the x-ray of an injured soul and, above all else, the privileged vision of how someone survives and lives through the world after serious trauma.

The author of this books prefers not to sign it. Their story would not have been possible without the armor anonymity offers. It is a testimony, not an exhibition.

John Maynard Keynes

John Maynard Keynes

The General Theory of Employment, Interest, and Money is the most important work of John Maynard Keynes, who foresaw that his work would begin a revolution in the form of businesses thinking more on public interest. Keynesian Thought was very influential on post-war period economics and capitalism, and this book highlights the essential works of his theories.

Sergio Campos is an editor and professor. He received degrees from the University of Buenos Aires, where he specialized in literary theory.

La riqueza no puede esperar

Cómo evitar las trampas y construir tu futuro financiero

A translation of Wealth Can’t Wait: Empower Your Freedom, Create Your Future and Build a Life Worth Living (9781626344198)

Paul Morris and David Osborn

In Wealth Can’t Wait, David Osborn and Paul Morris share their knowledge, dismantle myths about wealth, and demonstrate how one can achieve financial liberty. Osborn and Morris’s method consists of a five-part strategy of steps to boost wealth. By cultivating the habits, mentality, and business practices to secure the best results, you will be inspired to reach your financial ambitions today.

Paul Morris is a business owner, writer, and business consultant. In only a decade he has transformed a small real estate brokerage into a franchise with 10 branches. He graduated with honors in economics from the University of Pittsburgh and has postgraduate degrees from Oxford and Cornell. David Osborn has founded over 50 companies and constructed one of the most successful real estate brokerages in the world. He also teaches others how to live prosperous lives. He lives in Austin, Texas.

Un best seller para toda la vida

Cómo crear y vender obras duraderas

A translation of Perennial Seller: The Art of Making and Marketing Work That Lasts (9780143109013)

Ryan Holiday

“How to create lasting success in a world of flash-in-the-pan hits and how to extend the proverbial 15 minutes of fame to a decade or even a century.” —The Financial Times, on the English-language edition

Ryan Holiday reveals for creators of all types how to conceive of long-lasting and successful works. Through interviews with experts, a deep study of imagination, and a study of works in various genres (from Iron Maiden’s music to Winston Churchill), this book provides tools to build an audience, develop ideas, and prepare the best business plans.

Ryan Holiday is an American writer, marketer, and entrepreneur interested in personal and corporate development. He is the media editor for the New York Observer and has written for Forbes, The Huffington Post, and others. He also wrote Confía en mí, estoy mintiendo.

Lo esencial del lenguaje musical
Las bases fundamentales del análisis musical
The Essential of Music Theory
Daniel Berrueta and Laura Miranda

An indispensable tool for conservatory and university students and for anyone that practices music, this book proposes an approach to the structures of music theory from the first years of study. Over 11 subjects, the authors present and review fundamental elements such as rhythm, melody, intervals, chords, and scales. This book is necessary for anyone interested in playing music intelligently and with complete expertise.

Daniel Berrueta received a degree in music theory, violin, and viola from the National Music Conservatory of Uruguay. He has been a professor at the Beethoven Musical Conservatory in Montevideo and an academic director of music at Real Musical in Oviedo. Laura Miranda has a bachelor’s degree in piano, music history and a doctorate in musicology from the University of Oviedo. Currently, she is a professor at the same university, and her research focuses on music in Spanish film.

Aprende a tocar el ukelele en familia
Ukulala: Learn to Play the Ukulele With Family
Salva Rey

This book is a pleasant, fun, and accessible guide to learning the ukulele and will familiarize readers with the basic notions of melody, harmony, and rhythm, and outline the peculiar history of this instrument. With a little practice, chords will come easy and you will be singing and playing ukulele in no time.

Salva Rey, also known as Mister Furia, is a member of the pop band The Pinker Tones and a writer of the children’s book series Rolf & Flor. He is also a ukulele enthusiast and has taught the instrument for many years.

El canto libre
Serrat
Carles Gámez

From his beginning as the jubilant and Mediterranean singer, more than five decades have passed. Many of Joan Manuel Serrat’s songs are stuck in the memory of various generations. They have become hymns in our ears, of dreams and desires that have crossed between singer and audience. The author understands the true universality of an artist is always rooted in his origins. Starting at Serrat’s own chronicles as a child in a melting pot neighborhood, mixed like his own Catalan and Aragon family, it tells the story of a singer that transformed popular music in the 20th century.

Carles Gámez is a journalist. He has worked as a screenwriter for TV and radio programs in genres such as magazines, documentary series, musical shows, and others. He has contributed to magazines and newspapers like El País, La Vanguardia, Esquire, and is the author of books on pop music, rock history, and film.

History of Pop Music: The Rise of Bob Dylan to Spotify

Peter Doggett

Their rhythms have influenced how we walk on the street, how we look in a mirror, and how we confront the world around us. Pop music has influenced our morals and customs; it has transformed our attitude towards race, gender, and politics. In a revolutionary and ambitious book, Peter Doggett shares the history of pop music from Bob Dylan and the Beatles to the stars of the 21st century and how technological advances have made pop music the vital blood of the modern world.

Peter Doggett is the author of numerous books about music and cultural history. His most recent title is The Man Who Sold the World David Bowie and the 1970s. He has also written You Never Give Me Your Money, a history of the Beatles break-up and its financial consequences.

Women of Rock
Anabel Vélez

When thinking of rock legends, a few names like Elvis, Jagger or Lennon pop up. But rock would not be how we know it today if not for what women contribute to its rebellious and combative style. This book is a historic and chronological tour from the 20’s to current day about the most important and influential women in rock history.

Anabel Vélez Vargas is a journalist and the editor-in-chief of Culturaca, and she contributes regularly to magazines such as Ruta 66 and Blissstic. She specializes in feminist literature and has analyzed the role of women in culture through music and comics. This is her third book, the other two being Rockeras and Superheroínas.

Jim McCarthy and Marc Olivent

Marc Olivent’s illustrations and Jim McCarthy’s words perfectly capture the dangerous spirit of Axl Rose, the most memorable Guns N’ Roses lineup, and the group over its three-decade career. It is a story of excess and chaos: the feud between Rose and Kurt Cobain, riots during concerts, the most expensive album ever made, the bitter departure of Slash, the drugs, the groupies, and of course, the music. Only a graphic novel could do justice to the epic story of Guns N’ Roses.

Jim McCarthy is a graphic artist and writer. He is best known for his graphic biographies of famous musicians, such as the books, Ramones, and Godspeed: The Kurt Cobain Graphic and Voices of Latin Rock. Marc Olivent is an illustrator. He has drawn for comics such as “Sundown Crossroads,” “Rick Fury” and “Zesi” and the book Dark Satanic Mills.
